PB SHORE CLUB

PACIFIC BEACH SHORE CLUB

Pacific Beach has an abundance of patios ideal for dining outdoors, but none of them compare to PB Shore Club, with unobstructed ocean views and plenty of seating for intimate groups or larger gatherings. Sunny San Diego weather and Shore Club go together like a burger and fries, so enjoy the sun on your back as you bite into the beach bar's Fajita Burger. Made with grilled onion, mushrooms and bell peppers, Swiss cheese and 1000 Island dressing all sandwiched between a toasted brioche bun, you won't find a burger (or patio) like this anywhere else.

BARLEYMASH

Take a mid-workday lunch break or rest from downtown sightseeing and grab a seat on barleymash's front patio. Located within the bustling Gaslamp District, posting up outside is perfect for people watching. This iconic restaurant and bar strives to source as local, organic and as natural as possible. In doing so, they've created some of the best tasting burgers in the city, including their classic All American. Served on a homemade barley-beer bun, this burger consists of a grilled beef patty, American cheese, baby greens, tomato, red onion, pickles and ale-aioli. Pair it with a cold beer, sit back and enjoy.

THE RAIL

Searching for a savory bite to brighten your sunny day? Snag a seat on the sun-lit patio at The Rail, a longstanding icon of food and drink found in the heart of Hillcrest. Featuring charming post-Prohibition Era decor and outdoor patio seating along the vibrant epicenter of the Hillcrest community, The Rail promises an ideal setting for digging into the sliders of your dreams. Order up a steaming set of the Steak Sliders, made with balsamic-marinated top round steak, a house bleu cheese sauce, grilled onion, arugula, and balsamic reduction between warm brioche buns for a perfectly portioned plate with a side of Vitamin D!
